Outline

I. Introduction

A. Cancer
   1. What is cancer
   2. What is the number of people that have cancer

B. Considering the number of diagnosed cancer patients and the number of death attributed to cancer, it becomes important to know more about the doctors specialized in diagnosing and treating cancer patients, the qualifications of said doctors, and the ethical standards of patient care that these doctors must follow

II. Body:

A. Doctors Specialized in treating cancer (oncologist)
   1. What is an oncologist
   2. Are there different types of oncologist

B. Qualifications
   1. How does one become an oncologist?
   2. Is there an internship/externship/residency or test/examination?

C. Ethical Standards
   1. Do oncologist have a governing body that follow standards of behavior
   2. Do oncologist have a specialized way of treating patients or discussing diagnosis with patients

III. Conclusion:

A. Cancer is prevalent in the United States and the need for Oncologist will rise ect..

B. Summarize everything (restate thesis)